

SPEAKERS BUREAU

Presentation Information

Presentation Category	Executive Leadership
Presentation Title	Leading with Style
Presentation Length	Full Day Training with an optional 4 hours for Facilitators Train-the-Trainer
Presentation Objective	Participants learn essential Leadership skill-sets for increasing their social intellect while reaching deeper levels of cooperation with those they work with and interact with off-duty. Students will recognize their personal strengths and learn to acknowledge and understand the strengths of others.
Presentation Description	Through this workshop participants frequently acknowledge that struggles with interpersonal relationships and difficulty connecting at work and at home can become a thing of the past. Participants learn skillsets for increasing their social intellect while reaching deeper levels of cooperation. Students will recognize their personal strengths and learn to acknowledge and understand the strengths of others. Each of us hold natural tendencies toward time, tasks, people and situations. Wouldn't you like to know your strengths and limits within these dimensions? How about understanding the strengths and boundaries of the people you interact with every day? Revealing personal strengths can enhance relationships, increase team productivity, improve personal and group satisfaction.

	During this seminar participants will receive a personalized 20-page Personal Style assessment. The workshop is interactive and led by an internationally certified facilitator. This challenging one-day session is designed to transform how individuals view themselves and others through group exercises designed to unlock the potential in self and others.
Speaker Name & Session	Christopher Hoina, NA Session 222
Speaker Phone Number	919-434-3015; 919-753-1127
Speaker Email	choina@commandcollege.org
Speaker's Biography	Chris Hoina is an Institute for Credible Leadership Development co-founder, and an International Academy of Public Safety Executive Board member. He holds a M.A. from NCSU, is a FBI National Leadership Development Academy graduate, and is a published author in the field of leadership. With 15 of his 25 years of law enforcement career spent as a team commander he is best known for his progressive initiatives on School Resource Officers, Crisis and Hostage Negotiation, Community-Policing, and Implicit Bias training. Chris has over 30 years of teaching experience collegiately, at numerous academic institutions, government agencies and most recently in the field of leadership development, professional development and self-improvement.