Presentation Title	Building a Latent Shield: Real and Effective Risk Management for Law Enforcement Organizations
Presentation Length	Flexible format; 1/2 day or full day
Presentation Objective	Attendees can expect to learn that in law enforcement-- unlike virtually every other high-value, high-risk field-- we don't practice true risk management. Instead, we practice what could best be described as liability management: instituting various policies and strategies to mitigate the financial damage after the bad thing happens. Attendees will learn how to leverage proven risk management concepts, systems, and best practices to build a real risk management program and safety management system that identifies hazards, assesses risk, and applies controls before the bad thing happens.
Presentation Description	In this presentation, attendees will learn the common deficiencies (and often complete absence) of true risk management programs in law enforcement-- and the serious consequences that can result. Attendees will learn proven risk management concepts, systems, and best practices through relatable and contemporary examples. Attendees will learn how to build and manage an effective risk management program with existing personnel and within available budgets.
